DETAILED ACTION

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: applicant is requested to insert the usual section headings, in particular a heading for the "Brief Description of the Drawings" would be appreciated.

Appropriate correction is required.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) and (e) as being anticipated by Byma et al. (U.S. 2004/0234744 A1).

See the abstract. The reference teaches a basalt layer between two thermoplastic layers.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byrna et al. (U.S. 2004/0234744 A1) in view of Michael et al. (U.S. 2001/0046587 A1).

Byrna et al. teaches a basalt fiber mat as a reinforcement layer in a headliner with adhesive, barrier, and outer trim layers (abstract). Michael et al. teaches perforations in a reinforcement layer in a headliner (Figure 4, section 0021) and forcing together the thermoplastic and reinforcement layers with rollers (Figure 3). The instant invention claims a perforated basalt and thermoplastic laminate. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill of the art to have perforated the laminate of Byrna et al. in order to improve the acoustic properties of the laminate because of the teachings of Michael et al.
